ROMMEL CONTINUES RETREAT NORTH

COUNCIL VOTES TO BORROW FOR HOSPITAL WORK

$35,000 Note Issue Approved To Help Finance Cost of Temporary Addition.

...ously approving an ... providing for issuance ... in anticipation of sale of ... the amount of $35,000, ... council in its semi-monthly ... last night cleared the way ... construction of a temporary ... addition to the Marion City ... and remodeling of the present building.

The $35,000 is to cover the city's share of the cost of the proposed addition, remodeling of the present building and purchase of equipment. The addition project is estimated to cost $166,800 of which the federal government will furnish $147,800.

By the council considered two ordinances and the ordinance dealing with the proposed hospital improvements. Also okayed by council were a resolution approving the designs and plans for remodeling and enlarging the hospital as planned by Thomas D. McLaughlin and Associates, Lima architects, and a second resolution requesting the city auditor to certify the life of the proposed improvement and the maximum maturity of bonds. City Auditor Elmer Shaw's certification was read and accepted by council.

Other council action included: approval of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.'s request to make bi-monthly meter readings; authorizing the Marion Rapid Transit Co. to provide bus stop markings throughout the city; ordering the Marion-Reserve Power Co. to move a street light at the viaduct on Lester street; and other minor affairs.

To Call for Bids Soon

Assured of finances to match federal grants, the city probably will begin advertising for bids on the hospital project within the next 10 days, Mayor Russell C. Snare estimated today. He said specifications are now being prepared for distribution and also said copies of the approved legislation before council last night will be prepared at once for distribution to proper federal agencies.

Final plans prepared by the Lima architectural firm and its Marion associate, Charles Oborn, recently were sent to Chicago and Washington, D. C., for approval.

The proposed frame addition to the hospital includes two one-story wings extending westward from the north and south ends of the present buildings. These structures will provide spaces for 50 additional beds.

Word was received some time ago from the war production board assuring city officials of priorities for construction materials to be used in both the tem-

FIGHT TO LIMIT ARMY SIZE RENEWED

McNutt Statement Stirs Capitol Hill Action.

(New Classifications on Page 7)

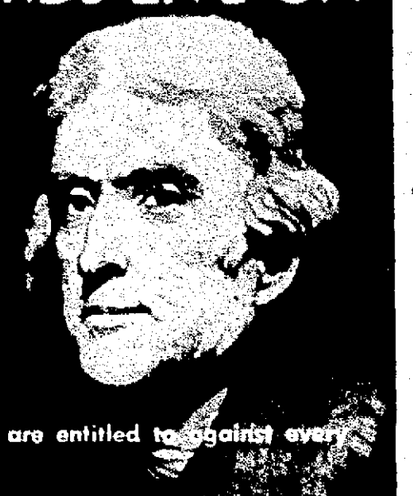
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Announcement by War Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt that the end of 1943 will see most childless fathers under 38 in the armed forces brought threats on Capitol Hill today of legislation to limit the size of the Army. Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee said he would urge speedy senate approval of legislation passed yesterday by the house to give deferment priorities to men with children and added that he would support a congressional review of manpower plans if "they don't stop fooling around down at the war commission."

"I don't see where the manpower commission plans to put all the men they apparently figure on between now and the end of this year is more than I am sure," May said. "The last figures we got, from the war department itself, were based on an army of 7,500,000 men."

Even if he was not prepared to say he would move immediately to control the size of the armed forces, he said the Kentuckian added, Congress is going along that line will be doing nothing unless they can show a need for all these men they propose to be determined to draft." McNutt's statement that "simple arithmetic" would require the induction of all fathers except those with occupational or farm deferments and a comparatively few "hardship cases," was made in connection with announcement of draft regulations.

JEFFERSON'S WORDS LIVE ON



TODAY is the 200th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence. These words, which he wrote during the Revolution and soon after, while the nation struggled for existence, are still pertinent today as the country fights its greatest war for survival.

"We have counted the cost of this contest and find nothing so dreadful as voluntary slavery."

"Every government degenerates when trusted to the rulers of the people alone. The people themselves therefore are its only safe depositories."

"A bill of rights is what the people are entitled to against every government on earth."

"The arms we have been compelled by our enemies to assume we will, in defiance of every hazard, with unabating firmness and perseverance, employ for the preservation of our liberties."

"All eyes are opened or opening to the rights of man."

HOUSE GIVEN FARM AID BILL

Measure Proposes To Abolish FSA and Crop Insurance Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13 — Abolition of the farm security administration, abandonment of the crop insurance program and discontinuance of parity payments on the 1943 and 1944 crops were recommended today by the house appropriation committee in sending a $707,040,844 agriculture department supply bill to the floor.

The funds recommended for the department's operation for the fiscal year starting next July 1 were $20,959,259 more than current year appropriations and $240,093,647 below budget estimates. Included in the total was $193,623,000 for parity payments for the 1942 crop year which were authorized in last year's appropriation but for which no funds were made available at that time.

In recommending abolition of the New Deal-sponsored FSA, created in 1937 and one of the favorite targets of congressional criticism for several years, the committee suggested that its functions be transferred to the farm credit administration, which was given the assignment of carrying on many FSA programs already under way.

Another budget bureau recommendation turned down by the committee proposed the elimination of provisos in last year's bill prohibiting the sale of government controlled surplus farm commodities by the Commodity Credit Corp. at less than parity price. The committee wrote into the measure an unqualified prohibition of the sale of the stock at less than parity.

The committee included a proviso limit in the per diem of county committeemen under the benefit programs to 100 days and community committeemen to 25 days per year.

The committee incorporated in the bill language intended to make it impossible for recently revived regional agricultural credit corporations to continue their lending activities.

Car, Trailer Struck Twice at Crossing

A car and trailer driven by E. E. Downey of Peoria, Ill., were struck by two locomotives at the Kenton avenue crossing of the Erie and Big Four railroad tracks at 9:55 p. m. Monday. Downey, who was driving south on Kenton avenue, told police he did not see the watchman at the crossing.

An eastbound engine struck the right rear corner of the car, stopping the automobile and trailer on the tracks. A westbound locomotive struck the trailer, completely demolishing it. No one was injured.

PRESIDENT DEDICATES MEMORIAL TO JEFFERSON

Ceremony Marks 200th Anniversary of Third President.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13 — President Roosevelt, dedicating a marble temple to Thomas Jefferson, declared today those fighting today's war would learn what Jefferson knew—that the "seeming eclipse of Liberty can well become the dawn of more liberty." Today marks the 200th anniversary of Jefferson's birth.

"Those who fight the tyranny of our own time will come to learn that old lesson," The President said.

Surrounded by high officials, diplomats of many nations and many descendants of the author of the Declaration of Independence, the Chief Executive said in the dedication of the shrine to freedom that the nation is paying a debt "long overdue" the third president.

The words chosen for the memorial, he said, were Jefferson's noblest and carried the champion of freedom's most urgent meaning. These words are:

"I have sworn upon the altar of God, eternal hostility against every form of tyranny over the mind of man."

Resting on land built up out of the waters of the capital's tidal basin the memorial is a $3,000,000 structure in a modified design of the Pantheon at Rome. It is circular, with a tremendous dome and 26 Ionic columns.

The memorial, which is 165 feet high, completes a plan for the national capital laid out many years ago, with the Washington monument as the center of a huge diamond.

SMITH ATTACKS MONEY 'SCHEME'

Congress Hears Marion Man Criticize Secrecy of Morgenthau.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith yesterday, under special orders, addressed the house of representatives for 30 minutes, analyzing the administration's post-war international monetary proposal, as well as the British plan, according to a news report from Washington.

Referring to both plans as schemes, Congressman Smith severely criticized the administration and especially Secretary Morgenthau for the secrecy and withholding information on the details of the plan from the congress and the people.

The first report of our activity in the international monetary plan was reported from London. Commenting on this Mr. Smith said, "For Mr. Morgenthau to confide so vital a matter as this scheme to a foreign country and keep it secret from those who employ him as their fiscal agent is, in my opinion, nothing short of a breach of public trust."

He charged that both plans "contemplate the surrender of a large part, if not all, of the very heart of national sovereignty, that is, mastership over monetary and credit resources."

Charges "Give Away" Policy

Bringing out the give-away policy of the New Deal bureaucratic panners, he said this administration has already gone far in giving the United Staes away. He referred to the many billions that had been given to gold producing countries, in premiums on the gold we have purchased from them under the administration's gold buying scheme, and also, hundreds of millions of dollars given away to Latin American countries through the Export-Im-

Morrow County Made Part Of Marion War Manpower Area

Approval Given at Meeting of Area Committee: District Now Made Up of Four Counties.

Morrow county this week will become part of the Marion War Manpower Area along with Marion, Hardin and Wyandot counties, which have been in the area since its inception.

Final approval was given the move at a meeting of the area committee last night in the Chamber of Commerce offices. Earlier, Morrow county employers and union representatives had been approached and had given their approval.

As a result, Morrow county, which furnishes many workers for Marion industries and which, conversely, provides jobs for a number of persons residing in Marion, will become a part of the territory served by the Marion area committee, which has as its purpose the coordinating of all efforts to meet manpower problems.

The move will become official on Friday of this week. At the same time, the Morrow county U. S. Employment Service office will be placed under direction of the Marion U. S. Employment Service, which will continue to operate it as a full time branch. It is in charge of F. O. Van Sickle.

The Marion area committee is made up entirely of Marion county residents, but will not be expanded. The Marion group will represent Morrow county employers and workers in the same manner it has represented Hardin and Wyandot county employers and workers in the past.

In other action last night, the committee adopted a standardized procedure for handling appeals cases in a manners suggested by the regional office. It also revised a portion of its policy, urging workers contemplating a change of jobs to stay on their present jobs until all questions about their eligibility to make a change have been settled.

Truck drivers were taken off the list of jobs on the critical list in the area.

It was decided to hold future meetings on Monday nights at 7:30 in the employment office rather than in the Chamber offices.

JAPS THREATEN NEW BLOWS ON ENTIRE FRONT

Renewed Air and Land Activity Predicted from Alaska to Australia.

By The Associated Press

Ominous Japanese threats to Australia and Alaska were disclosed today even as Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that allied fliers had won a smashing new victory in the southwest Pacific skies with the destruction of 37 out of 100 enemy planes over Port Moresby, New Guinea.

Japan's menacing actions were outlined at far ends of the Pacific war theater:

In Australia, Gen. Sir Thomas A. Blamey, commander-in-chief of allied ground forces under Gen. MacArthur, warned the Japanese had massed 200,000 first-line troops in island bases above Australia and could be expected to launch a new offensive at any moment.

Build Fighter Bases

At a U. S. base off Alaska, it was announced, despite violent American bombing and naval assaults, the Japanese are building a string of stepping-stone air bases from Tokyo toward Alaska which even fighter planes could span.

American 11th Bomber command headquarters said the Japanese were making steady progress in constructing a half-mile runway at Kiska which might be ready for fighter planes before Easter.

It also was announced the Japanese are building a long bomber field at Attu, westernmost of the Aleutians, 195 miles from Kiska and only 735 miles from the northernmost Japanese island base at Paramushiro.

Dispatches from the far north said the perennial fog shrouding the Aleutians was playing a major role in helping enemy ships run the gauntlet to their island bases, despite vigilant scouting by U. S. fliers and warships.

141 MARIONITES GIVE BLOOD IN ONE DAY

Red Cross Unit To Remain Here Through Wednesday.

A total of 141 Marion county residents contributed 121 pints of blood to the Red Cross blood bank yesterday in the first day of a three-day collection period, Marion's second mass blood donation since the first of the year.

Workers at the collection center in the basement of the Epworth Methodist church reported that during the first hour yesterday a total of 30 persons were handled, an average of 7.5 persons every 15 minutes.

Today, with about 150 persons scheduled for blood donation appointments, an average of 8 or more every quarter hour is expected to be reached.

A staff of eight is in charge of collection. The staff includes Dr. J. A. Maxwell, one technician and six nurses. A large corps of volunteer workers representing various branches of the Marion Red Cross chapter are assisting at the church. The unit's regular nursing corps is rounded out with three Marion registered nurses, Mrs. Robert Morrison, Mrs. W. M. Mitchell and Mrs. Earl Purdy.

Victory House Bond, Stamp Sales Listed

Sales of War bonds at the Victory House on the courthouse grounds amounted to $18,775 and stamp sales netted $1,343.88 for March, it was announced today by Miss Maud Gorham, head of the Women's Division of the Marion County War Bond Committee.

The bond sale represents $15,318.75 sold at the Victory House, $400 by the Morral committee and $3,056.25 from the Pleasant Township school committee, and the stamp sales included $1,036.68 for Marion, $241.90 at Morral and $65.30 at the Pleasant Township school.

CONTRACT AWARDED

The Ohio Engineering Co. of Lorain has been granted a war department construction contract to build open storage surfacing in Marion county, The Associated Press reported today from Washington. It is understood the project calls for waterbound macadam surfacing of an area of the Marion Engineer Depot.

Marion County's War Loan Drive Launched

Seventy Workers Hear Chairman Call for $2,533,000 Goal by Saturday; Work Begins Today.

Marion county workers in the Second War Loan campaign launched their drive for $2,533,000 last night and heard the county chairman, Fred E. Guthery, call for an "over the top" report by Saturday night.

The nationwide campaign to raise 13 billion dollars will continue throughout a three-week period beginning yesterday, but the Marion county chairman declared there is no reason why the 70 workers present last night could not finish the job this week.

"A few hours' work, if you really feel in your hearts about this like you should, could clean up the job," he declared. "Good public response in drives like this will help shorten the war, thereby saving the lives of many of our boys.

"No One Should Refuse"

"We have sent our boys—certainly we shouldn't hesitate to back them up with our money. Besides, we aren't being asked to give our money but to place it in one of the finest investments ever offered. We're only being asked to lend our money. Certainly no one should refuse."

Commenting on occasional complaints of "waste" from prospective buyers, Mr. Guthery declared, "Certainly there's waste in war—all war is waste. Let's finance it adequately so we can get it over with quickly and stop all of this needless waste of lives, money and other resources."

William C. Doody of Cleveland, here to assist in the campaign, described the various types of government investments offered in the April campaign and praised the county for having far exceeded its goal during the first war loan last December. He said the task this time is a greater one, but voiced confidence that it would end in success. He asked all workers to do a good job in their roles of "bondadiers."

Districts Set Up

The business district was divided into sections and volunteers, in teams of two, assumed responsibility for canvassing the various areas. Industries are handling their own campaigns, and foremen are being asked to give their workers opportunity to buy extra bonds this month.

Mr. Doody suggested that Marion county adopt a slogan of "Buy One More Bond This Month." If Marion county residents respond to this appeal, along with the support being given by banks and corporations, the goal will be reached quickly, leaders said.

The women's division, headed by Miss Maud Gorham, was well represented at the meeting, and took supplies to carry on an intensive campaign through the membership of the various women's organizations in Marion.

Mr. Guthery spoke briefly on the importance of the campaign, declaring that in view of the sacrifices fighting men are making, those at home dare never get the idea they don't have the time or money for such drives as this. Unless the war effort is successful, both at home as well as on the battlefields, there won't be any free time or money for anyone, he declared.

When the business district of

Mackenzie, on Tour of War Fronts, Learned Where Bond Money Goes

Observes Early U. S. Defeat in Africa Was Due to Lack of Equipment; It Costs Plenty To Win.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

This started out to be a column on the great defeat which we are piling up against the axis forces in Tunisia, but somehow it's got mixed up with that $13,000,000,000 war bond drive of ours.

It isn't that I'm particularly money-minded, for I don't know just how much thirteen billion dollars is. Figures like that don't mean much to the average citizen. However, being just back from a 35,000-mile tour of the war theaters, I do know that our troops in Tunisia are being rushed to victory on the backs of your war bonds and mine.

With even more satisfaction one can record that scores of thousands of allied soldiers' lives are being saved as this bloody battle swirls up the coast toward northern Tunisia where the final axis stand seems likely to be made. Only a few weeks ago I visited the Libyan battlefields where not so far back the allies suffered defeat and heavy casualties, not because they didn't fight courageously, but because they lacked equipment.

Why We Win Now

We are winning now because we have the equipment as well as the men. One of the things that impressed me most on my tour, as I have recorded in this column before, was the great striking power the allies are piling up in the European and middle eastern theaters. I saw mountainous stores of equipment which are just now beginning to make themselves felt in a big way. And that equipment comes out of our war bonds.

Marshal Rommel is racing north, his defenses in southern and central Tunisia shattered by the combined assault of British, French and American forces. One of the most important elements in the allied success has been air superiority.

Warplanes helped destroy Rommel's defenses at the outset in the Mareth line. Bombers have blasted his bases and communications on both land and sea. Clouds of light bombers and fighters at this moment are pursuing his routed troops and exacting a terrible toll in casualties.

Well now an average fighter plane costs something like $165,000. A light bomber is more, and so on up until you pay $350,000 for the Flying Fortress which is doing such magnificent work not only in the Mediterranean zone but over western Europe.

Bombs are being spewed into Rommel's ranks from the air. Every 100-pounder costs over $41, and from there the prices range up to $872 for the big 4,000-pound devil. The machineguns with which the fighters are strafing the unhappy axis troops cost $1,500 each, and the ammunition runs into big money when you figure the expenditure for a day's work.

A bulletin from London says that 15 more axis vessels have been destroyed or damaged in the Mediterranean by British submarines. That cuts Rommel off from a lot more aid. A medium submarine costs maybe $3,000,000. If the British were doing their usual good shooting, and used one torpedo for each ship hit, they would have exploded $165,000 worth of torpedoes, since an average torpedo costs $11,000. I don't know where $165,000 could be invested on more advantageous terms.

Hospitals Cost, Too

I was traveling on an American military transport plane in the middle east. Opposite me on a stretcher was one of our soldier boys with a broken back. He was being rushed to a city a thousand miles away where there was a hospital which might save his life. He was a handsome chap and all through the long hours he showed his white teeth in a smile despite is mental anguish, for he knew that his life hung by a thread.

War Summary

AFRICA—British Eighth army hot on Rommel's heels in retreat north, reported in Enfidaville.

RUSSIA—War planes, presumably Russian raid Koenigsberg in northeast Germany.

ALGIERS RADIO SAYS BRITISH IN ENFIDAVILLE

Nearly an Entire Italian Division Captured in Rapid Advance.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 13—Allied armies in Tunisia are advancing all along the line in pursuit of Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa corps north of Sousse and northeast of Kairouan, the allied headquarters communique said today.

(The Algiers radio, in a broadcast heard in London by Reuters, said that General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army advance guards had reached Enfidaville, 27 miles north of Sousse, and that practically the whole of an Italian division had been captured.

(London sources said that the axis armies withdrawing into the Tunisian tip totaled about 210,000 men, including 130,000 Germans, with three-fourths of Rommel's army seasoned veterans.

(The Vichy radio, German-controlled, said that Rommel had been reinforced by air in the last few days with both men and weapons.

Patrols from both the Eighth army and the First army are pushing forward north between the coast and the hills, and French forces continue to press forward in the hills to the east of the Ousseltia plain, the war bulletin said.

Air Bases Pounded

In the air, allied fliers continued to pound enemy bases and airdromes, scoring hits yesterday on docks and shipping at Bizerte; on a tanker and barges at Trapani, in Sicily; and on an enemy airfield at Ste Marie Du Zit, it was announced.

The Ste. Marie Du Zit airfield first was attacked Sunday night and many fires were left burning after direct hits on the buildings, it was said.

"Attacks on this target and on another enemy airfield in Tunisia were continued yesterday by formations of B-25 Mitchells and A-20 Bostons," the communique said. "Bombs burst among aircraft on the ground and more fires were started."

Ste. Marie Du Zit is 40 miles northwest of Sousse and 30 miles southeast of Tunis. It is nine miles east of Zaghouan.

Flying Fortresses carried the attack to Bizerte, and other axis Mediterranean supply ports. A "very large fire" was caused by the destruction of the tanker in Trapani harbor, it was said.

Fighter planes on patrol over the forward fighting areas shot down one enemy plane and the coastal patrols shot down two more off the Algerian coast, headquarters said.

"Further reports of operations on April 10 show that five more enemy aircraft were destroyed, making a total of 63 on that day," the communique added.

2 Planes Missing

Two allied planes are missing as a result of yesterday's aerial forays, it was stated.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's seasoned Eighth army patrols engaged rearguards of the African corps on the coastal road between Lake Kelbia and the sea as Rommel maintained his withdrawal through the Enfidaville line under a constant pressure. (This would indicate that the Montgomery advance was from five to 15 miles north of Sousse.)

British First Army troops were last reported 15 miles north of Kairouan and pressing on rapidly.

While French troops mopped up the Djebel Ousseat on the west flank and continued to advance northward along the grand dorsal range, the British First Army in the Medjez-El-Bab area, 35 miles southwest of Tunis, captured additional hill vantage points.

Meanwhile Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's Flying Fortresses continued to deal devastating punches, bombing a convoy of 11 tank carriers and over vessels in the Sicilian straits and scoring several damaging near misses. They blasted Bizerte where a medium-sized cargo vessel was hit directly. They battered Trapani harbor in Sicily where a number of power barges and a large tanker were smashed.

Oudna landing ground, 12 miles south of Tunis, also was torn apart in a raid.

The RAF did considerable damage among Rommel's troop and transport concentrations at Enfidaville, Bou Ficha, a coastal town 14 miles to the north, and Zaghouan, 18 miles northwest of Bou Ficha.

Carried rice seeds in the pockets of his greatcoat, from Italy, so that his planter friends in the South might try rice growing. Rice became a valuable crop.

Pantaloons — The first president to wear pantaloons instead of knee breeches, and to fasten his shoes by leather strings instead of silver buckles.

Letters—He wrote more letters than any other great man in history. It has been said that he wrote as many as 10,000 letters in one year.

Hospitality—He was so generous in his hospitality that friends and acquaintances imposed on him and helped bring about his financial ruin.

Swivel Chair—This was one of his inventions. He was ridiculed at the time he introduced this invention in 1796. It was called a "wonderful whirligig chair, which had the miraculous quality of allowing the person seated on it to turn his head without moving his tail."

Writer, Not Speaker — Jefferson was not an orator but he was a great writer. He wrote in a clear, forceful and beautiful style.

Refused to Testify — He refused to appear, when subpoenaed as witness, to give testimony in the trial of Burr for treason. This has since been recognized as a right of the President.

Founded Democratic Party—He is called the father of the Democratic party.

States Rights—He was always a firm believer in the rights of the individual state and opposed a strong federalized government.

No Portrait of Mrs. Jefferson—There is no known portrait of Mrs. Thomas Jefferson. Frequently the portrait of his daughter, Martha Jefferson Randolph, is given as that of his wife.

Louisiana Purchase — He was responsible for the largest and cheapest real estate transaction in the world—the Louisiana Purchase from the French in 1803 for $15,000,000, consisting of 1,171,931 square miles. He did this without constitutional power.

Manual of Parliamentary Practice — While vice president, and presiding officer of the senate, he prepared a Manual of Parliamentary Practice. Still recognized as a standard work on that subject.

Author — He wrote "Notes on Virginia," and prepared a book, "The Life and Morals of Jesus" for his own use.

Establish University — He is recognized as the founder of the University of Virginia. He also planned its buildings and acted as its regent.

Research on American Indians—For 30 years he worked on a study of American Indian languages. When he left the White House in 1809 he snipped these valuable papers in a trunk. Some thieves, seeing this heavy trunk on a ship, mistook it for gold or something else of value to them. After breaking open the trunk, which they knew belonged to Jefferson, and finding only papers, most of which they could not read, they threw the contents into the James river and all his work on these 50 Indian languages was lost.

A Christian — He was sometimes called an atheist. But he was not an atheist. He was a liberal in his religious beliefs. In a letter to his friend, John Adams, he once wrote, "An atheist I can never be, I am a Christian, in the only sense Christ wished any one to be—sincerely attached to his doctrine in preference to all others."

A Kind Father — He was an unusually kind and considerate father to his motherless daughters. They loved and revered him.

College Fraternity — While a student at William and Mary he became one of the first members of the Flat Hat club. In 1776 this club became the first chapter of Phi Betta Kappa, America's great honorary society of scholars.

Horse Back Rider—He was an outstanding horseman. While president rode about country around Washington for recreation. Shortly before his death, and at the age of 83, rode great distances.

His Last Words — During his last illness when he knew he could not recover, he said, "Do not imagine for a moment that I feel the smallest solicitude about the results. I am like an old watch, with a pinion worn out here and a wheel there, until it can go no longer." On Monday evening, July 3, 1826, he awoke about 10 o'clock from a troubled sleep, and thinking it was morning, remarked, "This is the 4th of July." He immediately went to sleep again and quietly slept away from this life.

Died on July 4th—His wish had always been that he would die on the 4th of July. His wish was granted. At 10 minutes before 1 o'clock, at noon, of July 4th, 1826, he passed away.

Most Unusual Coincidence—Of the writers of the Declaration of Independence only two became presidents of the United States. They were John Adams and Thomas Jefferson. They were warm friends and the election of 1800 found Jefferson's views and policies in opposition with those of Adams and his party. These two men died on the same day, July 4, 1826, exactly fifty years after the Declaration of Independence was signed on the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of this famous document on July 4th, 1826. No one knew of the death of Mr. Adams when he was dying, he said, "Jefferson still lives." This was a prophetic statement, as Jefferson "still lives" not only in the hearts of his countrymen but in the philosophy of our government, and as one of the world's truly great men.

His Epitaph — After his death, the following epitaph was written by Jefferson himself and placed on his tombstone:

"Here was buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of American Independence, of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom, and Father of the University of Virginia."

Gifts To His Daughter — The executors of South Carolina sent considerable cash relief his daughter, Martha Jefferson Randolph, $10,000, as soon as they learned that she was left without any independent means of support.

American farmers have been asked to produce 27 billion quarts of milk in 1943.

U. S. PLANES BLAST BIG JAP BASE IN BURMA

Destroy In Minutes What It Took Months To Build.

By The Associated Press

A HEAVY BOMBER BASE IN INDIA, April 8 — (Delayed) — Most of a suspected Japanese base headquarters at Toungoo was wiped off the map yesterday by heavy American bombers which blanketed fully two-thirds of the target area with tons of explosives.

American craftiness in plotting a course to the headquarters enabled them to catch the enemy off guard, pilots said. No enemy fighters appeared and all bombers returned safely.

Toungoo is halfway between Rangoon and Mandalay on the Burma railway. It always was important to the Japanese, but new military construction indicated its importance was increasing greatly.

The Americans waited until the military work was completed, then blasted to bits in a few seconds what took thousands of coolies many weeks to build. Smoke and flame popped up in huge billowing puffs over an area roughly 2,100 feet wide and 4,800 feet long.

"...arrived safely..."

• For all of us who have boys in the armed forces, the two happiest words we can hear or read today are these—"Arrived Safely."

We on the New York Central salute the men of the Merchant Marine who, day in and day out, in peril of bombs above, torpedoes and mines below, are so gallantly performing their mission of carrying your sons and daughters—and ours—overseas.

We know how heavy is that responsibility. For in addition to the 16,834 employees of the Central now in the armed services, the sons and daughters of more than 9,500 other employees have gone to war!

And we know how great that transportation task is. Because it is our job, as part of America's great transportation system, not only to help carry these millions of men and women from home to camp, and from camp to embarkation port—but to bring to the dock-side, on time, an average of 16,000 pounds of supplies and equipment for every soldier!

Yet, America's transportation system has still another vital responsibility—that of carrying essential civilian freight and essential civilian passengers, and . . . despite the fact that both passenger and freight volume are now double their 1939 level, that job is being done—thanks to the wholehearted cooperation of shippers, Army, Navy and Office of Defense Transportation.

When you realize this double job is being done with limited additional equipment—we believe you will see why occasionally you may not secure just the accommodations you desire on the particular train you had in mind, or even on the day most convenient to you.

By travelling during the week instead of the week-end . . . by cancelling reservations immediately, when your plans change, so someone else may take your place . . . you, as a civilian will contribute to the full utilization of available accommodations—and immeasurably aid America's transportation system in carrying out its assignment of primary supply line to a nation at war.

RESTAURANTS FIGHT FOR FOOD TAX BAN

Association To Circulate Petitions, Bricker Told.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13 — An Ohio restaurant association delegation informed Gov. Bricker yesterday that unless the general assembly acts promptly to repeal the sales tax on restaurant food Ohio will be flooded with petitions to eliminate the levy.

Bricker recommended repeal of sales taxes on restaurant food and prescription medicine in his message to the legislature. The senate unanimously approved repeal legislation, but the Republican house majority, Speaker William M. McCulloch reported, rejected the measure in caucus.

McCulloch said the majority opposed repeal unanimously, but other sources subsequently said the caucus voice vote was not unanimous.

The two taxes would yield an estimated $10,000,000 during the present biennium.

"If the legislature fails to repeal the tax on food consumed on the premises, we shall circulate petitions immediately," said R. R. Williams, executive secretary of the restaurant association.

He said petitions to the present legislature would urge immediate repeal of Ohio's only remaining sales tax on food. If the legislators should reject the petitions, Williams said, the association would circulate additional petitions designed to place a repealer referendum before the voters.

Former Gov. Martin L. Davey obtained repeal of the sales tax on food purchased for home consumption through a constitutional amendment referendum in 1936. This type of referendum would require 179,653 signatures, or 10 per cent of the 1942 gubernatorial vote.

Williams said restaurant patrons would have an opportunity to sign the repeal petitions "probably when they pay their food checks." He also disclosed that restaurants were posting placards urging customers to write legislators to do away with the levy.

New Type Aerial Bomb Designed To Blast Battleships

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 13 — An armor-piercing bomb that can drive through the protective decks of a battleship and explode in her interior was described yesterday by Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the navy's bureau of ordnance.

It is the answer, he said, to the problem of sinking the heavily-armored battleships and is designed especially for the job.

But, he continued in an address prepared for the Detroit economic club, to attain that ability to drive through half-a-foot of armor plate, explosive power must be sacrificed.

"To get through heavy armor, a bomb, like a shell fired from a gun," he said, "must be especially designed for the job.

"The principal features (of the new bomb) are a delayed-action fuse, a very thick wall and heavy nose, and consequently a small bursting charge.

"It must have plenty of striking velocity. The latter can be achieved only by dropping from high altitude or by diving at extremely high speed. In either case, accuracy is difficult to achieve."

He asserted that high altitude bombing "has proven almost useless against ships maneuvering in the open sea at high speed," and declared the best method for attacking well-armed ships is dive bombing.

WICKARD SEES CHANCE TO EXCEED FARM GOALS

Favorable Weather Will Beat Record, He Says.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Agriculture Secretary Wickard told the senate agriculture committee yesterday that with favorable weather 1943 farm production, including livestock, would exceed last year's record output.

"The labor situation is steadily improving," Wickard said, "and I am very hopeful that we will approximate the production goals for this year, if we have favorable weather."

Wickard's optimistic assertion came at the close of a two-hour hearing in which he defended administration opposition to the house approved Pace bill to include all farm labor costs in computing parity prices.

The secretary said enactment of the measure would unloose "an inflationary spiral the result of which it is impossible to even estimate."

However, Representative Pace (D-Ga), the measure's author, told Wickard his bill had "exactly the same effect" as an existing provision of the price control law which he said was "being ignored."

Pace said the OPA had ignored a requirement that maximum prices for farm commodities should reflect all increased agricultural labor costs since Jan. 1, 1941, an increase he estimated at 32 per cent.

VOTED AGAINST BILL

WASHINGTON, April 13—Rep. Edward O. McCowen, Republican of Ohio, voted against the Hobbs anti labor racketeering bill last Friday, a recheck of the roll call disclosed yesterday. A previous compilation of the vote showed that the Wheelersburg, O., congressman had not voted on the measure.

Our Illustrious Forefather

DEDICATION of a memorial to Thomas Jefferson on the 200th anniversary of his birth is fitting tribute to a model citizen of the United States. He might be called our model citizen, except for the fact he was too far above average to be a practical model for most of us. It will be a pleasure to pay homage to him in Washington, along with George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

He believed in the people, but he recognized their limitations when it came to making certain political decisions. He was purposeful; many men of his time seem to have been more purposeful than their modern counterparts; they knew exactly what they wanted and did not become confused. A man of many talents, he found ways to use all of them freely for his own satisfaction and the satisfaction of his contemporaries. Much that he wrote and said needs to be studied for its wisdom today, but he personally thought it was silly to tackle modern problems with quotations from old-timers. Though his name and doctrines have been manhandled brutally by mealy-mouths, addle-pates and plain liars, they haven't been able to take the shine off his glory as the founding father who came closest to being what most Americans at their best wish they could be, too.

Into the Sea, as Advertised

ALL previous misgivings disappear in the light of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's order to his British Eighth army to drive the North African enemy into the sea. Gen. Montgomery's orders must be taken seriously; his Eighth army follows them out to the letter.

He is one of a handful of military leaders to command special attention for the unusual quality of his leadership in this war. With his now famous army he has dispelled all doubt of British fighting ability; given the equipment, the manpower and the proper leadership, Britons have been more than a match for Marshal Rommel and his army, supposedly invulnerable.

Gen. Montgomery's forces have chased the enemy from Egypt into Tunisia. They have waded through all the obstacles and cornered the Axis in an untenable position. The general says the next job is to make the enemy wade into the sea, and there is no reason to believe it won't happen just that way. Even in Berlin, they don't bet against Gen. Montgomery any more.

War Junkets

SEN. BARKLEY'S slighting remarks about congressional junkets to war fronts would sound better coming from the mouth of someone besides a congressman.

There is a need for congressional junkets, just as there is a need for some executive junkets. No one objects when President Roosevelt wants to go see things for himself. Certainly, it cannot be argued that congress has less right to obtain first-hand information.

Lack of information has been a congressional handicap. It has contributed materially to the declining prestige if congress in its relations with the executive department. All too often the men who are held answerable to the people for the conduct of national affairs have had responsibility without authority.

The temptation to abuse junkets is strong. Sometimes they serve no purpose but a nice trip at public expense for the junketeers. But junkets have turned up a vast deal of indispensable public information, also. If the Truman committee, for instance, were to find out as much about North Africa by means of a junket as it has found out about the war effort here at home, it would be justified in setting up an African branch office.

Sideshow

ONE of the Washington columnists recently was wondering whatever happened to a lot of heavily publicized figures who came to Washington to save the country and never were heard of again. He mentioned William Knudson, that Wall Street figure named Odlum, Ferdinand Eberstadt and a few others. But the real situation is more significant than the disappearance of a few persons whose newspaper clippings couldn't save them from being pushed to one side in the hurly-burly.

It is the fact that no one in Washington can expect to hold the spotlight more than temporarily these days. The action—the real nation—isn't occurring there any more. The country isn't being saved now by Washingtonians but by a lot of hard-working citizens in Podunk and points north, east, south and west. It is being saved by boys on the high seas and in the jungles and in the skies wherever men are flying airplanes. Washington has ceased to be the big top and has become the sideshow. To be sure, the Washingtonians haven't realized it yet and will wonder every now and then what is happening to them, but that's the way it is.

News Behind the News

Wyoming Case Shows How White House Can Circumvent Congress and States.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 13 — Government by presidential decree instead of by direct law of congress has been developing apace of late years.

But in all the arguments involving major issues (prices, farm controls, etc.) there was never a clearer cut case of how this kind of government functions than the recently nationally un-noticed case in which the White House single-handed made a monument out of the Jackson Hole country in Wyoming.

The state of Wyoming and its senators, congressmen, governor, and state legislature awoke one morning (last March 18) and found a large portion of their state had been taken away from them by executive decree.

Mr. Roosevelt had that day signed an order laid on his desk by the national park service of the interior department re-creating the famed region south of Yellowstone park into "a monument."

How the vast Teton mountain range therein, and thousands of square miles of territory, could be composed into "a monument" by executive action or any other is a point which is not clear to me. The action was perhaps more of a legal technicality than a physical change.

Useful Land Clause

But the legal result was also that grazing land therein—needed drastically in this time of meat shortage—was denied to cattle owners. Some of the fertile farm land also became an unproductive "monument."

The government authorities say permits for grazing may be issued to some extent, and, presumably also, the national park service may allow the fertile soil to be tilled by executive permission of the national park service, but none of the state representatives here expect this to be fulfilled in its old sense.

Anyway, the people of the region will have to go to the government to get permits for their right to live and work there in their old way. Wyoming Senator O'Mahoney, and other Rocky Mountain state leaders here have been protesting vigorously against the action.

This monumenting by executive decree was done in the name of "preserving the scenic beauties" of the region, and it was done under the excuse of a forgotten law passed June 8, 1906, in Teddy Roosevelt's administration, providing for the "preservation of American antiquities."

Under Antiquities Law

The scenery has always been there and no one contends it has been deteriorating lately. The mountains are just as big as ever. Surely enough they are "antiquities" dating back to the glacial era, but the word is hardly an accurate description of them.

The point is the government lawyers rummaged back into a forgotten law, intended for another purpose, in order to find a flimsy justification for presidential action to do their will beyond the reach of congress.

The complaining senators suspect that the reason for such a strained legal step now, in the midst of war, is that the Rockefellers and the Rockefeller Snake River Land Co. have long been interested in preservation of this area outside the realm of commerce.

They have been buying up small ranches to turn over to the government in the laudable effort to make the area a pleasure spot like adjoining Yellowstone.

But they succeeded now at a time when food is most necessary, and they succeeded through executive action, excluding the rights of congress and the state of Wyoming.

A bill has been introduced in congress to nullify the executive order, but few expect it to pass. The legislators from other regions are busy with other more important subjects and seem unlikely to make the local interest of Wyoming their own to the extent of rebuking the President again. Wyoming may appeal to the supreme court, but that road also is long and uncertain.

Likely To Stand

All authorities agree, therefore, the act seems likely to stand. Perhaps the President merely signed it among a batch of papers on his desk that day, at the recommendation of his interior department, assuming it to be a minor matter—or perhaps not.

At any rate, the deed is done, presenting to the country-at-large a completely clear and typical case of the ins and outs of how congress, and even the states, can be circumvented by executive order.

This government moves in strange ways. For some years, a Connecticut citizen has been trying to get the government to take over the birthplace of Nathan Hale. He even offered to donate $30,000 for its up-keep if the government would only preserve it as a national monument.

This seemed to be a logical proposal. At least, it would not accentuate a meat shortage. However, the government could not be persuaded, was not interested. It would not approve a congressional bill.

$50,000 for "Long Tom"

Fund Provided for Year's Study of Jefferson Ideals.

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Features Writer

WASHINGTON, April 13—The nation, in the thick of its toughest struggle for democratic freedom, will pay a year-long tribute to the chief architect of American freedom.

Dedication of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial today, the 200th anniversary of the great Virginian's birth, inaugurates a congress-sponsored program of spreading the ideals of Jefferson throughout the country during 1943. Schools, patriotic, historical and civic organizations will participate.

A bi-centennial commission, headed by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, has general direction of the program. Congress has appropriated $50,000, with $15,000 allocated to the editing of the complete writings of Jefferson. A movie depicting his life will be distributed, particularly for use in the schools.

No other man has served this country in so many influential capacities. The chief author of the Declaration of Independence was the first secretary of state, the second vice president, the third president, a leading member of the continental congress, governor of Virginia and minister plenipotentiary to France.

Among America's great men, probably only Benjamin Franklin rivaled him in diversity of talent. Jefferson was a scientific farmer, a noted architect, an educator, a philosopher, a Biblical scholar, an inventor, a librarian, a mathematician, a gardener and an amateur weather expert as well as a keen lawyer and a political leader.

Even modern devotees of song and dance can claim something in common with "Long Tom," as his friends affectionately called him. He was a graceful dancer, a good violin player and singer. He often sang as he rode horseback through the forests on his mountain-top plantation.

His mathematical formula for making an improved mold board for a plow won a gold prize in France. He made his own folding chair, copypress, weather vane, extension top to his carriage and a lucky table which revolved on a pivot.

His Monticello farm operations were not a financial success, but as President he executed the most profitable financial deal in U. S. government history—the Louisiana Purchase. He bought that vast territory from Napoleon for $15,000,000.

He compiled from the New Testament a volume of Christ's teachings, known as Jefferson's Bible. He sponsored the separation of church and state, with a guarantee of religious liberty, in Virginia.

He learned to speak Spanish and advocated a Good Neighbor policy. He wrote: "I hope to see a cordial fraternization among all the American nations; and their coalescing in an American system of policy."

His gracious repartee made a hit with the French. Shortly after his arrival in Paris as minister to France, a grandee asked him:

"Do you replace Dr. Franklin?"

"I succeed him; no one could replace him," replied Jefferson.

Farmer Jefferson

Thomas Jefferson was America's first Victory gardener. During the Revolution he set out and cultivated some 30 varieties of vegetables to aid the struggling nation.

Though a statesman, Jefferson was a farmer at heart, and today the U. S. department of agriculture can trace its beginning to the agricultural societies fostered by "Long Tom."

Jefferson imported the first Merino sheep in this country; he brought rice seeds and olives from Italy, imported many foreign trees which he adapted to Virginia's climate. Through experimentation and cross-breeding, he aided improvement in American lamb and beef, then inferior to that of Europe.

Most sincerely did he call agriculture "the first and most precious of all the arts." Full-time farming was the way of life he would have chosen had America not needed his statesmanship.

A Detroit undertaker contributed an aluminum coffin to the local salvage drive, and in Deadwood, S. D., the wrought-iron gate of a cemetery went to the same purpose.

WASHINGTON "DREARY-GO-ROUND"

Today and Tomorrow

Uniting of Jeffersonians and Hamiltonians Needed To Provide Strength for Future.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE other evening I saw all but the last act of a play in which Jefferson and Hamilton appear as champions of two great opposing principles of liberty and authority. I do not know whether in the last act the author married the two principles and had them live happily ever after or whether he left Jefferson and Hamilton fighting forever the battle between good and evil. All I can say is when I left the theater the prospects were not good for a marriage.

If so, it is a pity. For the wisest man of that time, Washington, knew he needed both Jefferson and Hamilton to establish the republic, and it would be a sad reflection upon our own political sense if he were still unable to feel how indispensable and complementary were these two great men and what they stood for.

We have begun to realize how close we have come to separating the coming generation from its heritage in the American past.

But we must know also that there is no short way to make the past live again in men's minds: it cannot be done by passing a law.

Value of Studying Past

When we read writings of the early Americans we find that, unlike our own generation, the past was continually present in their minds.

Nor did the best of them fall into the error which I thought the playwright was falling into of identifying themselves with the partisan passions of the men of the past. The true study of history should give us more understanding than we could have had if we ourselves had been men of the past. For we see all sides of the past and we know also the outcome.

We have missed the meaning of history, then, if today we are "Jeffersonians," opposed to "Hamiltonians" or vice versa. This robs history of wisdom. To be partisan today as between Jefferson and Hamilton is like arguing whether men or women are more necessary to the procreation of the race. For it is beyond argument that it was out of the union of the two principles which Jefferson and Hamilton represented that there was born the republic which has endured.

To perpetuate the republic it is now more than ever necessary that we maintain the marriage of Jeffersonian liberty and of Hamiltonian authority.

The conflict of the two principles can be resolved only by uniting them. Neither can live alone. Freedom, the faith in man's perfectibility, has always and will always in itself lead through anarchy to despotism. Authority, the conviction that men have to be governed and not merely let loose, will in itself always lead through arbitrariness and corruption to rebellion and chaos. Only in their union are they fruitful.

Price of Party Passions

The men of Jefferson's day were passionate, often virulent, partisans. But they knew history well enough to dread the consequences of their party passions, and in Washington's farewell address we can see that his deepest foreboding for the future was fixed upon the fact that "The spirit of party . . . unfortunately inseparable from our nature, having its root in the strongest passions of the human mind," is "in all governments . . . truly their worst enemy.

The passion of party cannot, we know, be assuaged by exhortation. But it can be assuaged by the study of history, and few men who have taken into their hearts a knowledge of the past can in the present be naive and bitter party men.

Joe and Ethel Put Etiquette to Test with Good Results for Hazel and Friend.

By DAMON RUNYON

Pvt. Joe Turp, Home On Leave, Writes:

DEAR SIR Last night my wife Ethel reading a book and I ses whats that are reading Ethel? She ses its a book I ses I can see its a book sweets but what the book about? She ses it is about etiquette and it was loaned to me by Mazie G. Etiquette means the way to act Joe.

I ses see here Ethel I know what etiquette means as well as you do. Ethel ses you do ses certainly I do. She ses well Joe I am sorry to tell you but even if you do know what etiquette means you do not know how to do etiquette. I ses how do you mean do Ethel ses Joe you would be surprised to know how many etiquettes you do wrong.

I ses do I would say? I ses what etiquettes I do wrong" Ethel ses why when you introduce somebody you always ses let me get you acquainted with so and so. I ses what's wrong with that? I ses besides I not always put all that in. I ses sometimes just ses meet so and so. Ethel ses that's too. Thats very wrong Joe. You ought to speak the names of the two somebodies are introducing to each other.

I SES how do you mean Ethel? She ses well suppose you were introducing Hazel Quigg and Freddy Kugler. You ought to ses Miss Quigg Mister Kugler. I ses wait a minute Ethel. I ses you know very well I did introduce Hazel Quigg and Freddy Kugler, a awhile ago. Ethel ses yes I know that Joe I was just using them to suppose. I remember you did not introduce them with etiquette.

I ses how did I introduce them? Ethel ses you ses hi there Hazel I want to make you acquainted with Freddy Kugler. You ses I have said Miss Quigg Mister Kugler. Joe can you imagine how embarrassed I would be Joe if you were introducing Emily Post somebody and ses hi Emily I want to make you acquainted with so-and-so? I would be really mortified.

I ses who is Emily Post? Ethel ses she the one who wrote this book of etiquette. I ses well Ethel in the first place I do not know Emily Post and in the second place if I did know her I would not introduce her to anybody. Ethel ses why not? I ses well I would want to talk to her myself and if I introduced her to somebody they would want to talk to her too and interrupt us.

ETHEL ses what would you want to talk to Emily Post about? I ses I would want to talk to her about etiquette of course. I ses I would like to find out from her what difference it makes how you introduce somebody as long as you get them together the way I did Hazel Quigg and Freddy Kugler. I ses then I would ask her how to unintroduce somebody so Hazel and Freddy would be like they had never met. I ses Ethel baby I am almost off my gourd listening to that Freddy Kugler tell me his troubles about Hazel.

Ethel ses yes thats what I was going to tell you about Joe. I ses has Freddy been around here telling you his troubles? Ethel ses no but Hazel has. She is crazy about him Joe they fight like cats and dogs. She ses its all her fault. I ses well he ses its all hers. I ses I am sure sorry I ever introduced them. Ethel ses yes especially when you did not introduce them right.

I ses look Ethel I suppose I ought to take them up and introduce them all over again the way your book ses and Ethel ses O I would you do that? I ses what do you mean would I do it? I ses I was just making a joke Ethel ses well I am serious. It would be a nice thing if you did it Joe. They have not been speaking to each other for three weeks and Hazel's heart is breaking. If you took Freddy around to her house and ses Miss Quigg Mister Kugler I bet they would have to laugh and that would make them up.

I SES why sweets they will only have a fuss ing out again in a few days and Ethel ses what difference does that make Joe? They will have the fun of making up this time. Will you do it for me Joe? I feel terribly sorry for Hazel. I ses certainly I will baby. I ses I will do anything for you but don't blame me if it does not work out and Ethel ses Joe you are a lamb.

So I went down to Schultzes and found Freddy Kugler in there drinking beers and I come along with me Fred and he came and took him right around to Hazel's house and started to squawk when he saw where I was taking him but I had a good hold on his coat so he could not get away and I knocked on Hazel's door and when she came out I ses Miss Quigg Mister Kugler.

She started to laugh and Freddy laughed just like Ethel ses and then they kissed and made up. So I went home and told Ethel and she ses Joe you certainly are a lamb. It was a very serious quarrel this time. I ses what did they quarrel about baby? Ethel ses it was about the way Freddy always goes out of door ahead of her and walks on the inside when they are in the street. Why Joe do you see what they quarreled about? Why it was etiquette I just realized it Joe.

Yours truly,
PVT. JOE TURP

So They Say—

I think that the overwhelming majority of both parties realize that this is one world and that America must take the leadership.—Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota.

Every loyal American citizen should be given the opportunity to serve this country where his skills make the greatest contribution, whether it be in the ranks of the armed forces, war production, agriculture, government service, or other work essential to the war effort.—President Roosevelt.

We cannot have prosperity in our own land and misery in its neighbor, peace in one hemisphere and war in another. And if we try we shall be back on the old road to world war.—Anthony Eden.

Through all the vicissitudes of this hard and difficult life, under the heavy pressure of providing home and shelter for his family, the American man has clung tenaciously to his fundamentals. He has wavered many times in his actions, the weakness of human nature, but always has rebounded to the faith. Rare is the American man who is made incurably hard by the difficulties of life.—James A. Farley.

We teach American history because we are trying to find out what we are and why. History establishes in the midst of citizens habits without which democracy could not function.—Prof. Maxwell H. Savelle of Stanford university.

U. S. MUST BORROW 70 BILLIONS IN 1943

Morgenthau Says 10 Per Cent in Bonds Not Enough.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 13—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, launching the $13,000,000,000 second war loan drive, said last night the United Nations were now "piling up the thunderclouds of the greatest attack in history."

Morgenthau said that, exclusive of taxes, the government must borrow $70,000,000,000 this year—$20,000,000,000 during the first four months and $25,000,000,000 in each of the second and third four-month periods.

The secretary, speaking at a rally at Carnegie Hall and broadcasting over NBC, said the second front was near at hand.

"The second front is no military secret," Morgenthau said. "We all know that, just over the horizon, we of the United Nations are piling up the thunderclouds of the greatest attack in history."

Asserting that "ten per cent is no longer enough," Morgenthau asked the nation to buy extra bonds during April, even those already participating in the payroll savings plan.

HOUSING PROJECT TAX RULING APPEAL LIKELY

State Board Rules Ohio Must Collect Levies.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—An appeal to the Ohio supreme court appeared likely today in the wake of a state board of tax appeals ruling affecting millions of dollars worth of Ohio housing projects.

In a 2-1 decision, the board held federally-owned housing properties are subject to state taxation. It had ruled last year that projects owned by local housing authorities are taxable.

Chairman Hugh Jenkins and board member Robert M. Hance concluded congress lacks authority to exempt from state taxation property to which the U. S. housing authority or similar federal agencies hold title.

They also challenged a government contention housing projects are used exclusively for a public purpose and another that the projects are charitable institutions.

William Ford, third board member, dissented.

The ruling was made in denying an application from the federal housing authority to declare the $3,000,000 Laurel homes projects at Cincinnati tax-exempt.

The decision immediately affects other projects to which the authority holds title in Cleveland, Toledo and Columbus.

PACIFIC

emy planes destroyed to 76, and Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said the losses had apparently "blunted" a large scale Japanese air offensive and "dislocated the immediate plans" of the enemy.

Nevertheless, Gen. Blamey warned a new Japanese bid to regain the initiative in the South Seas battle theater might erupt suddenly and declared the enemy was making a tremendous effort to offset the allied victories in the Coral sea, the Solomons, New Guinea and the Bismarck sea.

Three Big Jap Raids

"The result of this struggle in the next few weeks will have the greatest importance for us," Gen. Blamey said.

The enemy's growing air strength was underlined by three massive raids in less than a week: yesterday's 100-plane raid on Port Moresby; Sunday's 45-plane attack on Oro bay, New Guinea, where allied fighters knocked down 23 planes; and a 98-plane thrust against Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons, April 7, when 39 Japanese planes were sent crashing into the sea.

Elsewhere in the southwest Pacific allied fliers shot down or badly damaged 15 other Japanese aircraft yesterday, sank an enemy submarine off New Britain, damaged at least two cargo ships and pounded Japanese bases over a wide area.

In a half-hour running battle, a single U. S. heavy bomber fought off 12 intercepting Japanese fighters over northeast New Guinea, shooting down seven of the enemy, and returned with "negligible damage" to itself.

On the Burma front, British headquarters reported "no change" for the past two days in fighting north of the Mayu peninsula.

Increase in War Production Urged by Rickenbacker

Some Interpret Talk as in Support of Bill To Regulate Unions.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker's speech before the Ohio legislature was interpreted today as a stimulus to proposed legislation to regulate labor unions.

The famous flier, urging greater war production, recommended strikes be outlawed for the duration; the closed shop and check-off system be suspended in war plants; overtime payments be replaced with incentive bonuses, and a 48-hour week be substituted for the 40-hour week.

A bill creating a state board to regulate unions, require 20 days' notice of strikes and ban sitdowns and slowdowns is before the house of representatives judiciary committee for possible action tonight.

See Blow At Unions

Some labor leaders charged the bill's purpose is to destroy unions.

Rev. Lody Huml, Democrat of Cuyahoga, declared that Rickenbacker delivered "a deliberate speech" for the bill. Huml has been a champion of labor.

Some proponents of the measure expressed belief Rickenbacker's words had greatly strengthened their position.

Senator Albert L. Daniels, Republican of Highland, asserted "it would be well for the legislature to give careful consideration to his recommendations to help the war effort."

Senator William M. Boyd of Cleveland, Democratic floor leader, remarked while the flier's "Intentions were good," he "did not say anything about employers who are responsible for slowdowns. He should also point his finger at the guilty employers. Guilt is not all on one side."

Captain Rickenbacker, returning to his home town for the first time since being rescued following a plane crash in the Pacific ocean, spoke last night before a crowd which filled the hall of the house of representatives.

Introduced by Bricker

Gov. Bricker introduced him as "the ace of aces."

Rickenbacker declared his "selfish purpose in life" was to fight to back up "millions of grand American boys in uniforms."

"And while they were out there dying," he said, "there have been people back here actually measuring it all in the extra dollars they could make out of the war boom—and they're still doing it."

He told the legislators that "every hour, day, week and month we can shorten the time it takes us to win can be measured in the lives of American boys—maybe your own sons, fathers or husbands—who will not be killed because victory will be gained that much sooner."

The he added:

"Perhaps, now, you understand better why I am urging you to eliminate the incompetents in government and racketeers in labor—the patrioteers in industry—all those whose objective is greedy, grasping, selfish personal gain.

"They are destroyers of time. Their measure is the dollar."

Rickenbacker suggested that any legislation regulating labor activities should be "fair to the millions of honest men and women of labor who want to do the right thing." It should not encroach on their right to organize or bargain collectively, he said.

MACKENZIE

Plane crew and soldier passengers all were solicitous for his welfare. Once the pilot sent back to know if a landing which he had made had been too rough for the injured man. Again the skipper asked if the weather was too rough at the height he was flying.

When I got off the plane I leaned over the stretcher and said: "Good luck to you, Buddy."

"Thank you, sir," he replied, and he flashed that smile.

They were able to move that lad by airplane because our money and labors had produced the plane and delivered it in the war zone. I'm waiting now to learn whether the chap with the smile made the grade.

Exchange of Bonds Urged by Committee

A definite suggestion to investors as to how they may help in the Second War Loan drive this month and at the same time be making a wise shift in investments came today from drive leaders. It followed one $5,000 transaction in which this method was followed.

Holders of U. S. Treasury 3⅜s per cent bonds callable June 15 of this year were urged to sell them now and reinvest the money in 2½ per cent bonds of the series now being offered. The 3⅜ per cent bonds may now be sold to good advantage, and the 2½ per cent bonds are an idea investment for money from these bonds, the committee said.

HOUSE CALLS JONES FOR U. S. TRADE DATA

Secretary To Testify on Nation's World Commerce.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones was called before the house ways and means committee today to give the dollars-and-cents data on United States world trade.

At the same time, the possibility of an early showdown on proposals to put the senate on record for postwar collaboration with other nations increased when a foreign relations subcommittee arranged to hear on Thursday the four sponsors of a measure to that effect.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said Senators Ball (R-Minn), Burton (R-Ohio), Hatch (D-NM) and Hill (D-Ala) had been asked to give their views to the committee in a closed session.

Definite action was sought on pay-as-you-go income taxes, as house Republicans resorted to blockbuster tactics to blast the legislation out of the ways and means committee room. Another vote was indicated as Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts brushed aside a proposal by Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) that Democrats and Republicans join in support of a 20 per cent withholding levy without abatement, and prepared to circulate a discharge petition to force the measure to the floor. A sizeable bloc of Democrats simultaneously moved to offer a compromise withholding plan.

If the Republicans can get the signatures of 218 members, the house probably will vote again on the Ruml skip-a-year proposal which was defeated, 213-198 two weeks ago, with the Democrats lining up almost solidly against it.

CONG. SMITH

port Bank, as well as the "big program of give-away under lend-lease" which the "planners say must be continued after the war and made a permanent policy." Mr. Smith said the proposed international monetary scheme would provide a grand opportunity "to the New Deal for scattering to the four corners of the earth the remainder of the wealth of our country and for playing world power politics."

He pointed out that the Morgenthau plan provided for the capitalization of five billion dollars, the United States to contribute no less than 40 per cent of this amount but would have only 25 per cent of the voting power while combined contribution of all the other member nations would be only 60 per cent but at the same time they would have 75 per cent of the voting power.

Mr. Morgenthau recently stated that United States participation in a definite international monetary plan "can follow only upon legislative or executive action." Mr. Smith took sharp exception to this statement of the secretary's and asked—"Is it possible that Mr. Morgenthau thinks no more may be needed than congressional action to give legal sanction to the scheme he is promoting? Has he never read Section Eight of the Constitution? Or does he propose by devious means to circumvent the basic law of the land in order to attain his end?"

"Section Eight of the Constitution provides that— 'The congress shall have power to * * * to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, * * *'

"Nothing in the Constitution is more definitive, or more important than this clause."

"If Mr. Morgenthau and the forces back of him should be able to get around this provision of the Constitution, then the last vestige of our great Charter of Liberty will have disappeared."

Predicts Defeat of Plan

Congressman Smith said there was clear indication that the intention of the framers of this scheme is to hand over to the international monetary power the function given to congress in the Constitution to coin money and regulate the value thereof."

He added, "I cannot believe the American people have as yet been beaten into such abject submission that they will allow this to happen."

Congressman Smith pointed out the world's total supply of monetary gold is 32 billion dollars. The United States holds 22½ billion dollars of this total amount.

Mr. Smith concluded by stating —"Yes, let us have international cooperation, but by all means let us have international cooperation based on enlightened self-interest."

TIRE INFLATION AT WAR PLANTS CHECKED

OPA Aids Visit Marion on Rubber Survey.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 13—More than one-third of the tires on automobiles parked outside 45 midwestern war plants were improperly inflated, a regional office of price administration survey disclosed today.

Clifford J. Houser, OPA regional rating executive, announced as a result of this finding, war plant transportation committees are being enlisted in an inspection drive to prevent "tremendous waste of our rubber supply resulting from improperly inflated tires."

"We are asking plant transportation committees to approach the problem from a purely selfish standpoint in agreeing to establish their own parking lot or inspection service," House declared. "As a part of their interest in having their workers give uninterrupted attendance at their jobs, these committees should insist upon proper care of the tires. If one-third of all tires are being abused, it is obvious that we will shortly be faced with an insurmountable crisis."

The checks were made at leading plants in Marion, Columbus, Lockland and Cleveland.

KOENIGSBERG RAIDED, BERLIN RADIO SAYS

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 13—The Berlin radio said today an enemy air force had raided Koenigsberg, communications center in northeastern Germany, and a key point of the German campaign in Russia.

The broadcast, recorded by Reuters, did not identify the nationality of the planes, but the fact that British sources had reported no activity of the RAF last night indicated strongly that the force was Russian.

On the land front—Soviet warplanes pounded German supply lines as mud bogged operations. The Red army command said the Nazi drive was halted on Volkhov front, southeast of Leningrad, after five German attacks were beaten off.

MISSOURI RIVER FLOOD THREATENS OMAHA PORT

High Waters Break Dikes at Two Places.

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb., April 13—Muddy waters of the Missouri river reached out today to envelop Omaha's $4,000,000 municipal airport and score a triumph over men's ingenuity which for nearly a week had been concentrated on preventing just such a disaster.

Sudden breaks in two dikes last night gave the swollen stream the upper hand, temporarily at least, by sending it in from two directions toward the airport. Juncture of the two long fingers of water would cover the field and complete the inundation of Carter Lake, Ia., which started last night.

Red Cross and other rescue workers worked late last night to evacuate the last of approximately 1,000 families living in the 10-square-mile stricken area, which is on the northwestern outskirts of Omaha.

Track Meet Set at Prospect on May 8

County School Thinclads To Vie for Honors in Annual Event.

A war rationed version of the annual Marion county school track meet will be held at the Prospect Community park on May 8.

This year only the senior high meet will take place. Because of transportation difficulties the Junior high event has been cancelled. Wartime travel will probably cut down the usual number of participating teams. This year only about six schools are expected to enter.

There will be a list of 15 track and field events for the meet. These range from the 100-yard preliminaries, which along with the pole vault will be the first events on the program, to the mile relay, which will mark finis to the day's activities. The scoring will be six, five, four, three, two, and one, according as the participant comes in first, second, etc.

Trophies for Winners

An entry fee of $1 will be charged each contestant. The usual trophies will be presented the winner and runner-up. Special medals will be given the event winners and the members of the winning relay teams. The second, third, fourth, and fifth place winners and second place relay teams will receive ribbons.

Last year the county meet was won by the Prospect Thinclads under the coaching of Paul Keiler, who is no longer that school's mentor. The Prospect squad garnered a total of 67 5/6 points in capturing the meet. Pleasant came in second with 59½ points with Green Camp placing third with 37 2/3 markers. All three teams are expected to enter this year's contest.

Already this year the Waldo and Pleasant cinder artists have had a dual meet. However, this was more of a practice nature since no official record of the results was tabulated. Only about six of the scheduled events were able to be run off in the brief time of the regular school noon hour alloted for the meet. This has been the only semblance of a county track till this spring. However, all the county schools expecting to participate in the county meet have been working out their prospective contestants for some time.

Sharing up at the present as the number one runner in the county ranks is Wilmer Bibler of Morral. Bibler captured the 100-yards dash in the Ohio Wesleyan relays at Delaware last year. In the 1942 county meet he was second in the 100, 200, and 440 to Hogue, talented Pleasant racer. Hogue, leading point maker in last year's contest, was graduated in '42 and won't be around this season to leave opponents far behind in the running.

Charles Carr of Green Camp is another returning 1942 star. Carr was ranked within the first 10 of Ohio high school broad jumpers and high jumpers last year. Dean Cusick of Pleasant will be doing his stuff in the 880-yard run and some of the hurdles again this season. Cusick was ranked within the first ten of the state's 880 cinder men. He easily won the Marion county 880 in '42 in the good time of 2:10.9. Carr won the broad jump with 20 feet ½ inch and the high jump with 5 feet 4 inches.

Two Waldo pole vaulters that should provide some sky scraping leaps for the fans are Wiseman and Augenstein. Both of these boys did 10 feet or better in the last week's dual meet with Pleasant.

Heats To Qualify

In the 100 and 220 yard dashes there will probably be two preliminary heats to determine the final contestants in the events. There will be three trackmen to qualify for the finals from each heat.

Merton Porter of Pleasant and Frank Furniss are chairmen of the coaches committee for the track meet. The following men will serve as officials for the respective events: Starters: Frank Furniss and Paul Furniss; timers: H. C. Secrest, Clyde Forry and Ivan Barnhart; finish judges: Herbert Moore, Melvin Bernow, Virgil Anderson, E. E. Banning and G. W. Cox; pole vault, Virgil Anderson; shot put: H. C. Secrest, Mr. Moore and E. E. Banning; high jump: Ivan Barnhart; discus: Merton Porter, Mr. Cox and E. E. Banning; broad jump: Ivan Barnhart, Clyde Forry and H. C. Secrest; clerk: Milton Baker.

Following is the list of events to take place in the order as scheduled: 100 yard, preliminary, and pole vault; shot put; 220 yard preliminaries; discus; broad jump; high jump; 120 yard high hurdles; 100 yard dash finals; mile run; half mile relay; 440 yard dash; 220 yard low hurdles; 880 yard run; 220 yard dash; and mile relay.

Prospect Relays Off

The annual Prospect relays, scheduled for the Prospect park next Saturday, have been canceled. However, Pleasant and Prospect have announced their intention to enter their best individual performers in the Ohio Wesleyan relays which will take place at Delaware on Saturday, April 24. Undoubtedly Morral will enter Wilmer Bibler and some of the other schools may decide to enter some of their better thinclads.

SPORTS SCRIBES PICK CARDS TO REPEAT IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

72 Writers Take Part in Annual Associated Press Poll.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 13—The uncertainties of baseball this year failed to bring any uncertainty to the minds of the baseball experts as to which team will win the National league pennant.

The 72 scribes taking part in the annual Associated Press poll selected the St. Louis Cardinals as their No. 1 team by an overwhelming majority.

Fifty-four picked the world champions for first place, with no ballot placing them lower than third. The Brooklyn Dodgers, runnerup last year, ranked second, drawing 11 first-place votes and no vote lower than fourth.

Another team to be considered for first place are the Cincinnati Reds, with four backers for the top position. The Reds ranked third, right behind the Dodgers, figuring on the point basis of 3 points for first, 7 for second, 6 for third, etc.

Behind the Reds, in order, came the Cubs, the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Boston Braves, and, as usual, the Philadelphia Phils. The point totals ranged from the 544 assembled by the Cards to the Phils' 87. The Phils have one backer who thinks they will wind up in fifth place, and one optimist also has the Braves tabbed for that slot.

The Cards and the Dodgers are the only two teams not to be pushed back into the second division by at least one voter. The Reds were ticketed for every place from first to sixth, and the Cubs from first to seventh. The Giants were picked to finish anywhere from second to seventh.

McGraw's Pinch Hitter Now Conditioning Army Fliers

By CHIP ROYAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

MITCHEL FIELD, L. I.—Harry E. (Moose) McCormick, only civilian director in the United States Army air forces, is convinced that combat-conditioned fliers will win the war for the United Nations, and the former Giant outfielder is helping to turn out plenty of them.

Moose is supervising the training program for the First Air Force which keeps him flying back and forth among the many bases scattered from Maine to Florida.

"What the Army needs is plenty of wind," declares Moose. "If a flier is in conditon, he has it. My job is to inculcate in the minds of our fliers the need for getting in combat condition, and to keep them offensively-minded."

You would never guess McCormick is past 60. He has powerful, broad shoulders under a thinly lined weatherbeaten face. Outside of a few gray hairs, his six-foot frame still looks as it did back in the days when John McGraw called him the greatest pinch hitter of all times.

Bucknell Grid Star

Moose was a professional basketball player before he went to Bucknell. There, he turned amateur and starred at basketball and football, succeeding Christy Mathewson at the fullback post when the latter graduated in 1902.

After knocking down fences playing with Jersey City, Moose joined the Giants in 1904. He played in the outfield until 1910 when he decided to become a steel salesman. When the job didn't pan out, he joined the Giants as a pinch hitter. No record was ever kept of his safeties but McGraw said he sent him up 13 times one season and he connected 11 times.

He was one of the first baseball players to enlist in 1917, and as Captain McCormick, he was a member of the 167th regiment in the Rainbow Division. After the war, he was graduate manager of athletics and coach at Bucknell and later went to West Point where he was baseball coach for 11 years.

Moose has always been a student of condition. The men under his supervision can prove it for they'll agree that they have the best physical training of any group in the armed services.

"Give all the credit to the obstacle course," says Moose. "It's the best conditioner we have, and it doesn't take as much time as callisthenics or other activities.

"Our problem in training fliers is one of coordination," continued the former Giant. "The pilot must be like a batter up at the plate. He must be alert, show no sign of nervousness, and be in shape to meet any emergency."

Snatches of Sports

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 13—The season is at hand for selecting this year's major league pennant winners, though we can't see what good it will do this year when the team you pick in April may be just a bunch of individuals in Uncle Sam's uniforms by October . . . Why not just wait until the end of the season and then say: "See, I told you so? . . . At any rate, here's what this department has to offer in the way of selections:

• • •

NATIONAL LEAGUE

To pick a winner, just pick a Card;
They're full of pep and try so hard.
But never overlook the Dodgers,
A bunch of ancient, draft-free codgers.
The Reds rely on muscle magic
The Giants, Pirates and Cubs come next.
As pennant contenders they're all hexed.
The Braves and Phillies are in the rear
With very little hope or cheer.

• • •

AMERICAN LEAGUE

The first-place vote goes to the Yanks.
As hard to stop as Sherman tanks.
Boston comes second, on a guess,
Because we like the Indians less.
Despite the ballyhood for St. Louey
The Browns are fourth, and that's no hooey.
Then Tigers, White Sox,
Senator, A's,
Who are lucky if in the league they stays.

• • •

Today's Guest Star—C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "With the parking lot at Pimplico open during the forthcoming spring meet this means drivers may enter and park—at their own risk . . . Having done this, they may then go on in and bet—also at their own risk."

• • •

One-Minute Sports Page—Manufacturers are working on two different kinds of plastic golf balls and expect to come up with an acceptable substitute for rubber soon.

Sandusky Cancels All Interscholastic Games

By The Associated Press

SANDUSKY, O., April 13—Sandusky High school yesterday cancelled all interscholastic athletic contests in favor of intra-mural sports.

The action was ordered for an indefinite period by Supt. Karl E. Whinnery, who said most of the scheduled games could not be played without violating travel restrictions. He also said players would be needed part time in war industries.

Whinnery added that a football program next fall would involve a large expenditure with no assurance that games with other schools could be played or that a coaching staff would be available.

OHIO FIGHTERS FARE WELL IN BOSTON NATIONAL AAU CARD

Old Timers Say Boxers Come Up in Better Class This Year.

BOSTON, April 13 — Critical oldtimers were have been observing amateur boxing hereabouts for as many as four decades today agreed that the youngsters now battling for medals in the national AAU's second wartime championship tournament are the best they have seen in years.

They based their opinions on the 31 bouts put on yesterday and last night by 83 hand-picked fisticuffers, as the field was reduced to 32 for tonight's semi-final round.

The service men appeared better trained than the usual tyros and many of the civilian entries.

When the first night's glove-swinging ceased, Cleveland's well-balanced team, which qualified all but one of its seven members, shared the top honors with nine service men, seven from the Army and one each from the Marine Corps and Navy.

Among the 32 survivors were three of last year's winners, two of whom are title defenders, Samson Powell of Cleveland, in the 160-pounds division, and Bob Foxworth of St. Louis, in the 175-pounds class. A year ago Leroy Jackson, also of Cleveland, topped the 112-pounders, but tonight he will be striving for the 118-pounds crown.

FIRST ROUND

118 pounds—Melvyn Pullin of Springfield knocked out Dominic Ortiz of Washington, D. C., in third.

147 pounds—Calvin Courtney of Columbus decisioned Harry Stephens of St. Louis, Mo.

160 pounds—Frenuise Hall of Buffalo, N. Y., decisioned Dave Clark of Cincinnati.

Pitching Worries Boudreau but Not Deacon McKechni

By The Associated Press

RICHMOND, Ind., April 13 — Manager Lou Boudreau was concerned about his pitchers as the Cleveland Indians were here for the third game of a series with the Cincinnati R...

Cancellation of yesterday's game at Fort Benjamin Harrison caused the Tribe pilot some anxiety, as he feels his mound staff needs all the activity it can obtain.

Al Milnar and Mel Harder, the only hurlers who have worked as long a stretch as five innings in any one game, and the only others who have gone the full nine inning route are Al Smith and Jim Bagby.

Boudreau wants each of the four to work a seven-inning turn before returning to Cleveland Monday.

Coach Del Baker was left behind when the Indians left Indianapolis last night. Baker has been confined to his bed for a week with a severe case of influenza.

The Indians jump to Springfield, Dayton and Middletown, before moving into Cincinnati, a pair of week-end games which will wind up the spring training season.

Council Votes Hospital Notes

...ly briefly in the ... preceding the ..., the ordinance ... issuance of notes ...al was declared an ...measure and after ...s Councilman Slack ... be accepted. His ...seconded by Council... and unanimously ... a vote.

It provides for the issuance of $35,000 in $1,750 bonds bearing three per cent interest. The maximum maturity of the bonds is 15 years and the maximum maturity of the notes is two years.

Rate Reduced

During the caucus Councilman Slack suggested a four per cent rate of interest normally paid by the city was entirely too high and he was supported by Mayor Snare and several other council members. At the suggestion of the mayor the four per cent rate was reduced to three per cent. The reduction was formally approved in the opening meeting.

Of the $35,000 to be issued in bonds, $20,000 will be used for purchase of equipment for the temporary frame addition to the hospital and $15,000 will be for remodeling the present building.

Last night's action winds up proceedings which extended over a period of a year and a half over hospital improvement. Marion voters in November of 1941 approved a $200,000 bond issue for remodeling and enlarging the hospital.

In addition to a bitter dispute over hiring of an architect, council and the hospital board of commissioners were unable to obtain priorities for permanent improvements. Because the bond issue approved at the polls called for construction of a permanent, fireproof addition, council was unable to tap the bond issue funds for building a temporary addition.

Service Director Heard

Requested to appear before council in the previous meeting by Councilman Slack, Safety-Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell spoke briefly in the caucus meeting, citing various handicaps under which the city service department is operating.

He said, "You councilmen do not realize the handicaps under which we of the service department are working. Some days I have to take fellows off the regular street repair trucks in order to complete the garbage and rubbish collection staff. We want and, we'll like that. Because of an under-manned department there is a lot of street repair work needing attention which we are unable to take care of at present.

"We are making progress. We have done as much as can be done with Prospect street between Mill and West Columbia streets. Paving material can not be obtained because of government regulations. Several complaints about conditions of sidewalks have been reported by councilmen," he continued, "but sidewalks are the responsibility of the individual land owner and not the service department," he added.

Fairground St. Repairs

At the last meeting council asked that the minor cave-in along East Fairground street as a result of water main work for the Scioto Ordnance Plant be repaired. Mr. Caldwell said the contractor has promised to take care of this matter.

He referred to conditions at railroad crossings in the city, especially the North Main street crossing of the Big Four railroad. He said the individual companies are being urged by his office to make repairs.

About the department's manpower trouble, he said a number of workers are requesting a high wage scale if they are assigned to work which normally carries a higher scale than their usual pay. As an example he referred to the operation of the city's grader. He said a man assigned to run the grader immediately requests an 85 cents an hour scale which he expects to retain indefinitely. Council advised the safety-service director to set up a practice of paying higher wages for work normally carrying a high scale, but suggested that the worker return to his normal pay scale as soon as the semi-skilled work ends. In other words, council pointed out, a worker's pay check may be based on one, two or more wage rates.

Grant Gas Co. Request

By unanimous action council approved the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.'s request to make bi-monthly meter readings. Charles E. Sechrist, manager, said the company hoped to continue monthly meter readings as long as possible. He said the company hoped it would not have to commence bi-monthly readings although utility companies in a number of cities in this area already have adopted the plan.

The plan, if put into effect, will be much the same as the company's present plan if entrance to the subscriber's home can not be obtained, Mr. Sechrist said. In such cases he said the company renders an estimated bill based on the customer's prior use of the service. Miscalculations one way or another are made up in the next reading, he explained.

The resolution adopted also provides for readings for customers who desire a reading on the months the meters are not read. In these cases form postcards will be furnished by the company and the subscriber will make the reading and return the filled out card to the company in time for billing.

A street light located on a pole on the east side of Leader street north of the viaduct was ordered moved to the next pole north.

A number of minor appropriations from the general fund and the gasoline tax fund were approved.

A resolution seeking council's permission to paint bus markers on curbings throughout the city was approved by all council members but Pearl Sells, who contended the paint would soon wear off.

Other business before council included the acceptance of a written opinion from Acting City Solicitor Russell M. Wilhelm in regard to the $200,000 hospital bond issue. The written statement was the same as the verbal opinion made to council in its last meeting by Solicitor Wilhelm in which he stated council could not use any of the bond issue funds for purchase of equipment for use in a temporary, non-fire-proof addition to the hospital.

The March report of Frank S. Burns on the Marion relief area was read. It listed 60 direct relief cases involving 116 persons; one work relief case involving two persons. Expenditures listed included $772.23 for direct relief, $16.19 for work relief, $204.83 for medical relief, $450.46 for administration of the relief area for a grand total of $1,482.19 in expenditures.

Sewage Works Report

Also accepted was the report of R. E. Burnett, superintendent of the sewage treatment works. He listed operating costs totaling $1,401.22 including $60 for technical supervision, $170 in wages for superintendent, $640 for labor, $346.66 for incidentals, $184.56 for power.

Chief of Police William E. Mark's monthly report to Safety-Service Director C. C. Caldwell listed a total of 146 arrests. Other police action during March included issuance of 952 traffic tickets, 538 calls answered, 553 complaints handled, 104 meals served. The report said three autos and 11 bicycles were stolen during the month. The three autos, valued at $400, were recovered and seven bicycles valued at $128 were recovered. Other property recovered was valued at $99.10. Total value of property recovered was valued at $627.10.

Expenditures for the month included $118.31 for incidentals, $71.59 for auto upkeep, $3,872.19 for payrolls, $132.28 for gas and oil, $978.40 for sustenance including payment of $955.35 to the county commissioners from Oct. 1, 1942, to Dec. 31, 1942, $2 for stationery and printing, $18 for criminal investigation and $166 for equipment.

MAJOR W. W. HINSHAW of Winchester Ind., above, is conducting a series of revival meetings at the Salvation Army citadel at 403 West Center street. Meetings are held nightly. Major Hinshaw, who has been in Salvation Army service for the last 37 years, presents his themes in an old-fashioned gospel service.

MRS. MAJOR W. W. HINSHAW SPEAKS AT ARMY CITADEL

Meeting Tonight Opens Second Week of Special Programs.

"What Then Shall I Do With Jesus?" was the subject of Mrs. Major W. W. Hinshaw at the Salvation Army citadel last night. Her appeal to the audience portrayed the contrast between Christ and Barabbas.

"One of these characters, the Savior or Barabbas whose Pilate pitted against the son of God, will have to be the master in your lives," she said. "With the acceptance or retention of Barabbas you must accept the course that goes with that choice or with Christ the blessing," she added.

The service tonight will open the second week of the series of special meetings in progress at the citadel. Major W. W. Hinshaw, speaking on "What Must I Do To Be Saved?" Thursday and Saturday nights, will use a large chart illustrating his messages and on Friday night Mrs. Hinshaw will present a "ghost story" in tableau. The services which open at 7:45 each evening are open to the public.

Commissioners to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church and to the synod of Ohio were elected Monday in the spring meeting of Marion Presbytery in First Presbyterian church. Dr. George F. Browne, missionary to China, spoke and reports were presented.

Because of war conditions the number of commissioners to the general assembly has been reduced by half, with Marion Presbytery allowed one ministerial commissioner. Rev. Edward Ziegler of Bellefontaine was elected representative and Dr. Homer G. McMillen of Kenton, alternate.

Ministers elected commissioners to the synod meeting were Dr. McMillen, Rev. Frank W. Duggan of Forest and Rev. Hugh F. Ash of Condit. Three laymen elected commissioners to the synod included Henry Ruhl of the Forest Lawn church, Marion.

Rev. C. D. Loehr of Bucyrus was elected to serve one year as chairman of the bills and overtures committee, Rev. Howard L. Olewiler of First church, Marion, was elected to serve on the general council of the Presbytery. Dr. Clarence S. Gee of Delaware was reelected general presbyter for three years.

Repores were given by Rev. Ash of the committee on foreign missions; Rev. Harry W. Barr of Sidney, committee on Wooster college; Dr. H. G. Finney of Mt. Gilead, million dollar wartime service fund; Rev. R. C. Bowman of Upper Sandusky, sessional records; Rev. John A. Carriker of Forest Lawn church, Marion, Christian education; Dr. Gee, annual report of the general presbyter.

A brief talk on the Wooster college work was given by Dr. Ramey, representative of the school, and Rev. Carriker requested the Presbytery to meet for an adjourned meeting May 13 for licensing and ordaining to the ministry Richard Heydinger of Bellefontaine.

Morning devotions were conducted by Rev. Alexander E. Taylor of West Berlin, Rev. Robert Rushing of Iberia was moderator, Rev. John Berger of Delaware, stated clerk, Rev. Malcolm Hooker of Urbana, permanent clerk, Rev. Louis Swartz of Crestline, temporary clerk.

Major Dubois Talks at Meeting of Lions

Major G. B. Dubois of the Marion Engineer Depot related his experiences in the last war as a member of the engineering corps in France when the Lions club met Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

The nominating committee was announced to choose the officers for next year. Headed by Joe Roby, it includes J. G. Lytle, Walter Moore, Fred Warner Jr., and Russell Youngblood.

It was announced that the blood typing project will soon be carried to the public, and a committee headed by Dr. J. W. Bull was selected to be in charge. Lloyd Rhodes of the General Excavator Co. was a guest. April 27 the Lions will meet with the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs at the Masonic temple.

J. G. Lytle represented the Lions in the war bond drive program at the Victory House yesterday afternoon.

FARMERS BUY INSURANCE TO PROTECT WORKERS

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—Mindful of accident hazards in employing inexperienced help to meet war production goals, Ohio farmers are seeking the protection of the workmen's compensation insurance law, the state industrial commission reported today.

Ralph Klapp, commission secretary, said farmers must recruit help this year from all available sources, regardless of experience. Numerous 'teen age boys and girls will assist in producing Ohio's 1943 crops, he added.

For his own financial security, the farmer needs compensation insurance as a protection against legal claims arising from accidents, Klapp said.

Farm employers are required to carry the insurance if they hire three or more persons, although Klapp said many have neglected in the past to obtain the coverage.

A survey by the farm and home accident prevention committee of the Ohio Safety council disclosed 242 accidents, four of them fatal, occurred on the 4,032 farms.

MOTORIST FINED $100, LOSES RIGHT TO DRIVE

Jason E. Foulke of 128 North Sellers Avenue was struck at 10:04 Monday night on West Center street near the Pennsylvania railroad crossing by a car driven by George B. Neighborgall, 58, of 374 Clinton street.

Mr. Foulke was taken to City hospital for treatment of an abrasion on his forehead and other minor injuries.

He was crossing Center street from north to south at the time of the accident. Mr. Neighborgall was arrested by police on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. His driver's rights were suspended for six months and he was fined $100 and costs following his plea of guilty in municipal court this morning.

UNION CERTIFIED FOR WAR PLANT PATROL

John D. House, field agent for Local 241 of the United Rubber Workers of America, CIO, reported today he has received word from the national labor relations board that the local union has been certified as exclusive bargaining agent for the patrol unit and police matrons employed by the United States Rubber Co. at the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

The certification followed a vote at the plant last week in which he said 99 per cent of those participating in an election conducted by the NLRB favored the union as their agent.

Mr. House said the union will commence negotiations for a contract with the company sometime this week.

At 10 a. m. Friday morning he said a field examiner for the NLRB would conduct a hearing on a petition filed by industrial units at the ordnance plant requesting the union to be certified as their bargaining agent. The hearing will be conducted at the courthouse, Mr. House said.

SFAX OVERJOYED AS BRITISH ARRIVE

By DON WHITEHEAD
AP War Correspondent

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY AT SFAX, April 10—(Delayed)—The hysterically happy populace of this city, freed from German control, threw aside all restraint in giving the triumphant British Eighth army a tumultuous welcome today.

Never in the almost 2,000-mile march across Africa has this correspondent seen anything like the joyous abandon which seized the people when British tanks and troops rolled through the outskirts giving chase to Rommel's retreating Africa corps, which fled from here in darkness this morning.

Men, women and children strewed the army's path with flowers. Crowds cheered and applauded for hours as armored trucks poured northward.

Officers Reelected By Marion Cemetery Board

The eighty-sixth annual meeting of the Marion Cemetery association board was held Monday night in the directors' room of the Marion County bank.

C. P. Schaffner was reelected president and other officers reelected were S. E. Barlow, vice president, and Harry J. Merchant, secretary and treasurer. Henry A. True was elected trustee for four years, to serve with John H. Barnum, John P. Parker and Ben W. King. Reports showed satisfactory business operations in the past year.

TRADING IN WHEAT IS REPORTED LIGHT

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 13 — Wheat futures prices were easily influenced today in either direction but the volume of trading was light as most interests awaited definite developments from Washington. The market advanced around noon but selling attributed to one of the mills brought on another price recession. Just before the close prices were near the day's best levels, however. Rye fluctuated erratically as commission houses and local interests tested the market.

HULL URGES RENEWAL OF TRADE AGREEMENTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Secretary of State Hull yesterday urged renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements in order he said to demonstrate that the United States will cooperate with other nations not only in war but in the peace to come.

"The many peoples who look toward this country with hope," Hull told the house ways and means committee, "are watching our action on this act with profound interest. What we do about it will be looked upon as a signpost pointing to the path they can expect us to follow.

Heavy Selling of Rails Set Off by ICC Freight Rate Ruling.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 13—Stock and bond markets suffered another setback today as heavy selling of rails was touched off by the interstate commerce commission's suspension of last year's freight rate increases.

Prominent stocks on the initial tumbled included Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, New York Central, Southern Railway, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone, United Aircraft, International Harvester, Goodrich and J. C. Penney.

Wall Street admittedly was surprised by the I. C. C. decision although observers interpreted it as another move in the President's anti-inflation program.

Patterson Calls Africa Preliminary Struggle

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson told the house military committee today the current struggle against the axis in North Africa "is merely a preliminary skirmish when viewed in its setting in the entire war scene."

Germany and Nazi-held Europe, and the rich possession seized by the Japanese are "the chief battlegrounds, and those battles have not yet been fought," he declared while testifying in support of legislation to draft civilians for war work.

"Eisenhower's armies are doing well in North Africa," Patterson continued, and "they will drive the Nazis and Italians into the Mediterranean or force their surrender."

But, he added, the Nazis "still hold their vast gains in Europe" and "the Japanese still hold the rich resources they seized last year in the far east."

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

FOR A MOMENT I stared at Hal Meredith blankly, as I comprehended what he had said, and recognized only too surely what must lie behind it. Then I found voice to answer his question.

"Not direct blackmail, no," I said, "but there is a woman—fiend would be the better name for her—who has threatened Katharine, and who is a direct menace not only to Katharine but to Jack Bickett."

"Madge!" He sprang to his feet excitedly, his errand for the moment forgotten. "Do you mean that Katharine's husband has come back to her, and that they have been reconciled?"

I turned my eyes away from the suffering in his, with which was mingled brave determination to bid his lost love Godspeed if happiness should have come back to her, for I could not bear to look at the revelation.

Meredith's Vow

"I am sorry, Hal, for having been so abrupt," I told him. "I forgot that you did not know what has happened recently. Yes, Jack has come back to this country, but he has not seen Katharine yet."

"Does she know he is here?" he asked hoarsely.

"Yes, she does," I told him.

"Then why has she not seen him?" he demandd. "Is he still keeping her stretched upon the rack of his moodiness and his neglect? Look here, Madge! I promised her I'd give her up and stay away, because she felt that she must be loyal to Jack. But by the Eternal, if he is still keeping up his infernal treatment of her, I'm going to take back that promise and take her away from him."

If I had not learned of the tragedy of misunderstanding which the lies and treachery of Ruth Hayes had built between Jack and Katharine, and who I had been able to clear up for both of them, though they had not seen each other, I could have wished that Katharine had seen this lover of her youth as he uttered his romantic vow.

Hal is middle-aged now, but despite his slight limp resulting from a terrible air accident, he retains his lithe figure, his handsome face, his kind merry eyes and his debonair charm of manner. He embodies a woman's ideal of a gallant knight, and to me it seemed a tragedy that his deep lifelong love for Katharine must end in frustration.

But my fealty had been pledged to my brother-cousin since I had learned that he never had ceased to love Katharine, and I steeled myself to tell Hal Meredith the things which would deal a death blow to his resurrected hope.

"Sit down, Hal," I said quietly, "and before you tell me anything further of your errand, let me bring you up to date on what has happened to Jack and Katharine. Can you listen quietly?"

"I promise not to interrupt you," he said, and I sketched rapidly Jack's journey to the United States, with the robbery of his papers by Ruth Hayes, his taking sanctuary with Professor Diswell who was deciphering certain cryptograms for him, the trip I had taken in the armored car with my father's guards to Diswell's home, and our rescue of Diswell and his mysterious helper "Charles" from the gangsters.

I then told him of my discovery that "Charles" was really Jack, and of the revelation which had come to Jack and me, after we had compared notes, that Ruth Hayes had suppressed the letters of both Jack and Katharine, and had lied and schemed unceasingly to make Katharine believe she had won Jack away from her, and to convince Jack that Katharine would marry Hal as soon as she could divorce Jack.

"Each has exonerated the other," I said, "and although they have not seen each other, I may safely say that they are reconciled and ready to take up a new life together, whenever it is safe for Jack to come out of hiding."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

High Blood Pressure

"HIGH BLOOD pressure" is a term used in a very loose sense, both by doctors and patients. As a matter of fact, it is an emotional term. It is too bad that it was ever invented because whenever it is pronounced it arouses feeling which interferes with a calm discussion of the basic factor involved.

What most patients and, indeed, most physicians do not realize is that it is a natural process which involves every part of the body. Suppose two trees were talking together and one said to the other, "I am beginning to bud." It would make just as much sense as if one human being said to another, "I have high blood pressure." If a man of 50 says to another one, "I have low blood pressure," he is immediately marked as unusual.

The medical profession have capitalized on this, albeit subconsciously, and use the term very carelessly. For instance:

One group of patients with high blood pressure discover it quite accidentally on some such occasion as a life insurance examination or draft board examination.

Another group of people never get examined, never have any symptoms and live to the age of 70 with a high blood pressure of which they are completely unaware.

Still another group of the active, nervous, vital type have high blood pressure simply on account of their nervousness and activity.

The smallest group of all have symptoms which could be ascribed to the high blood pressure.

The evaluation of the patient with high blood pressure by the doctor must take into account the entire body. Simply taking the blood pressure tells practically nothing. After that is done the heart must be examined and after that examination of the retina of the eye tells a great deal. After that, kidney function must be considered, and after that the symptoms which the patient is experiencing should be valuated.

Only after this survey can any sensible plan of treatment be laid out. And since the entire body is involved, the entire man must be treated. Psychology is the first item in treatment because, as I said above, "high blood pressure" is an emotional term.

Activities, exercise and bed rest should have a due allotment. Diet is of no importance whatever. Nobody ever got high blood pressure from his diet and nobody was ever relieved in the slightest degree of high blood pressure by changing the diet. Nor is there any drug or medicine which will help the patient.

Examining 1,000 patients over the age of 50, it would be found that about 40 per cent of them had a blood pressure which by ordinary standards would be considered too high. About 20 per cent would have a blood pressure which by ordinary standards would be considered too low. The rest would be somewhere in between.
